Detectives in Medicine Seek Baby Killer

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A team of medical detectives—hunting a ghostly and epidemic killer of babies—is baffled and looking for help.

The epidemic of birth defects struck last fall in Atlanta, Ga., and laid 16 newborns vulnerable to death. Only two survived.

The defect was a ballooning of spinal cord tissue at the base of the spine, a meningomyelocele. It leaves a child open to infection of the nervous system and to hydrocephalus, the trapping of fluid in the cranium, causing enlargement of the head and some times brain damage.

Doctors knew that the spinal cord forms in the first 28 days of pregnancy, often before a woman knows she is pregnant, before she has seen a doctor.

The question that haunted doctors was: Did some common factor—disease, drug or diet—occur in all the cases?

They got on the case early, in September, while the trail was still hot. They took blood samples from victims and from mothers.

Nothing proved out, said Dr. Marvin Boris, U.S. Public Health Service epidemiologist. He worked closely with Dr. Richard Blumberg, head of pediatrics at Emory University.

They then sat down with the mothers, asked them to remember back to the critical periods of their pregnancies, back to the last month of 1961, the first two months of 1962.

All too aware of the explosion of deformed babies caused by the tranquilizer thalidomide in Europe, they charted drug histories: What tranquilizers, cough syrups, vitamins, pills did you take? Again nothing added up.

An influenza epidemic had hit Atlanta about the critical period. Was the influenza virus the culprit? Any other virus disease?

Was anyone else in the family sick, with anything, smallpox, polio, measles, mononucleosis, anything? Again there was no answer.

The women had come from various parts of Atlanta, the babies were born in various hospitals, the mothers didn't know each other, used different food sources.

The birth defects were occurring at a rate of 421 per 100,000 births. The normal rate was a sixth of this, about 75 per 100,000 births. Oddly, the nonwhite birth rate was normal, with the defects occurring in about 30 of every 100,000 births.

After the epidemic had passed the rate returned to normal. But the doctors, looking back on 14 young deaths, want to know what ghostly killer passed this way.

Federation Calls for More Unity

By CARL ZIMMERMAN

MANILA (AP)—Policy makers of Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines called for unity and brotherhood among those nations of Malay stock in opening a conference today that could make or break the proposed Federation of Malaysia.

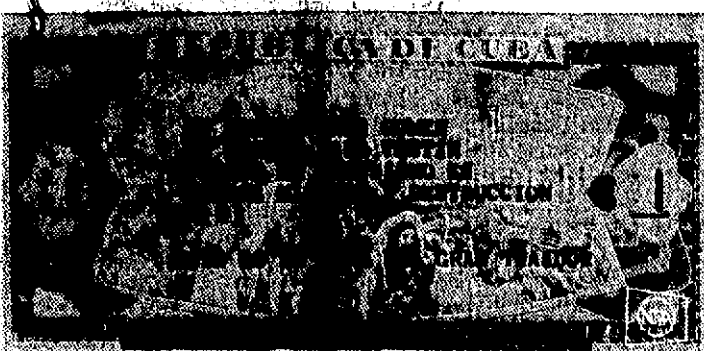

Indonesians and Filipinos have viewed critically the federation plans that would make a new nation of Malaysia, Singapore and the British Borneo territories of Sarawak, Brunei and North Borneo, vice president and foreign secretary, told the gathering the Philippines was prepared to prop broader Malay grouping that would include the projected federation's members, plus the Philippines and Indonesia.

"We sincerely believe that such a confederation, comprising 140 million people in one of the richest regions on earth and the strategically important area of East Asia would provide the answer not only to the security needs of the individual member countries, including Singapore, but would stand as a powerful bastion against aggression from any quarter and ensure that ours would remain a region of peace and security," he said.

The Philippines proposed such a confederation last year after laying claim to British North Borneo. At the time, it was understood the Philippines proposed the confederation to replace the Malaysia plan, but Pelaez's remarks indicated the two would be complementary.

MONEY WITH A MESSAGE—One peso banknotes being circulated in Cuba by the underground carry the following overprinting: "Valueless for food... Valueless for clothing... Because communism is hunger, misery and destruction... This is the work of the great traitor." Possession of the notes poses a problem: If they're taken to a bank, bearer may be accused of collaboration with the resistance. If attempt is made to spend the money bearer is, in effect, collaborating. If money is destroyed, bearer takes the loss. Bill is shown as it appeared in Free Cuba News.

DeAnn's Old Dr. Whipple Not Only Had the Area's First Car But Had Trouble Stopping It

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

There have been various ways to spell DeAnn, but sometime during the 1870's the postoffice was established there and Simon T. Sanders, who was then postmaster at Washington, named it DeAnn, possibly after the old cemetery near there. This name was probably from some early French settler, while Arkansas was yet a part of the Louisiana Purchase Territory.

W. S. Atkins, Hope attorney, recalled in the centennial edition of the HOPE STAR in 1936 some of the "problems confronting the early doctors of this county in regard to sanitation, and the gradual progress of good health during the early 1900's."

Mr. Atkins lived at DeAnn with an uncle, Dr. Whipple, who had married his mother's sister, Dr. Whipple, a physician and ex-Union soldier, had come to DeAnn in about 1882 from Illinois and rebuilt the old Johnny Clark house, probably one of the first houses in that settlement. He ran a general store and was postmaster of DeAnn at one time.

Some of the older settlers who remembered Dr. Whipple used to tell a story about him when he got his first car. He had formerly driven two ponies, and whenever he would drive up to a gate on a call he would call out "whoa" and the ponies would stop. When he first drove his car on a call and came in the gate he forgot and yelled "whoa," and when the car didn't stop he drove right on through the gate.

Mr. Atkins is the nephew of the late Charley Atkins. Uncle Charley was quite a character around Hope and was an important figure in the development of the county. His widow built and gave the 5th & Grady Church of Christ to the congregation.

She also gave $5,000 to Harding College while it was at Morrilton. At her death, she left a number of securities to the church. Mrs. Atkins also left her furnished home as a parsonage. Uncle Charley was one of the main contributors to the church during his lifetime.

One more anecdote gleaned from another source concerned when the star mail route from Prescott to Washington was first established and the mail was carried by horse. The mail carrier was called Old Daddy Burns. One afternoon he had a narrow escape near the T. J. Hartsfield home.

Daddy Burns had made the trip from Prescott to Washington in a cart that day, and while he was in Washington a heavy rain storm came up. At this time Cannon branch had no bridge across it, and when the mail carrier went to ford it he carried his cart and horse downstream and they became tangled in a drift. Daddy Burns was able to get out on a log and get his horse's head above the water and hold it this way while he yelled for help. Finally, his cries were heard and some of the neighbors went to him.

They said when they got there Daddy Burns was yelling and praying by turns. After he and his horse were rescued, the party was forced to leave the cart and mail. When they took him to a house and dried him off, someone asked how deep the water was. As Daddy Burns couldn't talk plain, he said, "From Hell to Hell," meaning from hell to hell.

He was obliged to go home that night and return the next day and fish his cart out and recover the mail, which had received a good wetting.

Bids Received

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—King Construction Co. of Texarkana has submitted a low bid of $581,073 for construction of an addition to the nursing home at the Boone County Hospital.

Says State Does Not Need Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that Arkansas does not need the help of the St. Louis Regional Conference on the Employment of Negroes.

The five-state conference, to be held June 24, is headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. Other states involved are Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Tennessee.

Faubus said he had not been asked to send a representative to the meeting but added: "As far as this state is concerned, we already employ members of all races and we intend to handle our own employment and make our own policies here in Arkansas and I don't think we need any advice from this group."

Wallace Sent Task Force to Alabama U.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A highway patrol task force has moved onto the University of Alabama campus to complete preparations for re-integration of the white institution.

Gov. George C. Wallace has stated repeatedly that there will be no violence when Negroes Vivian Malone, 20, of Mobile and James A. Hood, 20, of East Gadsden enroll next week.

Wallace said he will carry out his plan to physically prevent their admittance despite an order from a federal court judge that he not interfere in any way.

The university was desegregated briefly in 1956, but a mob drove the Negro student from the campus. The student, Autherine Lucy, was expelled later for making unproved charges that university officials conspired with the mob.

State troopers Thursday were charting the campus area where students will register. The university said the Negroes will be enrolled Tuesday.

University officials said the campus will be sealed off Saturday. Only authorized personnel will be allowed to enter the area.

Experimental Plan Submitted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Drs. Andrew C. Ivy and Stevan Dorovic, Chicago sponsors of the controversial drug Krebiozen, said today they have mailed an experimental plan to the Food and Drug Administration so they can continue to distribute the drug for use by cancer patients.

FDA officials had held that a plan regarding investigational use of the drug in humans had to be filed by midnight tonight, or distribution ceased.

Ivy told a news conference, with Dorovic sitting beside him, that it was decided to file an application for temporary experimental status and to continue to distribute Krebiozen on the request of licensed physicians, as he said has been done in the past.

Ivy said the experimental plan requests that a fair test be conducted by the National Cancer Institute to settle the scientific aspects of the controversy over whether Krebiozen is beneficial to humans having cancer.

Fine Milk Supply
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Johnnie Holmes, manager of the American Dairy Association in Arkansas, told a Little Rock civic club Wednesday that Arkansas has one of the finest milk supplies in the United States from the standpoint of public health.

Approves Study of Lake Chicot

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Public Works Subcommittee approved today resolutions to authorize Army Engineers to make 18 flood control studies at a total cost of $1,152,000. They include a study of Lake Chicot in Arkansas, costing $40,000.

Approval of the full committee, to which the resolution must go, is sufficient to authorize the surveys, subject to availability of funds.

Many Fear Violence in Race Issue

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The great flurry now by the government, churchmen, mayors, businessmen and others to speed up desegregation raises an embarrassing question for white people, North and South. Why didn't it happen sooner?

The government—and some churchmen, mayors, businessmen and others—had been moving, but at a snail's pace, to end racial discrimination. But Negroes had to force on them the realization they hadn't done enough fast enough.

Negroes are finally fed up waiting for the equal treatment to which they are justly entitled as citizens under the 14th Amendment but for which they have been waiting almost 100 years since the amendment was adopted.

They know at last how much strength they have if they act together. Now they are using direct action in demonstrations, sit-ins, picketing, and boycotts. So far their action has been mostly nonviolent. It may not remain so.

And white people realize it. They can't claim to be suddenly moved by the injustice of segregation. This has been evident enough for years. They are fearful that bloody riots may come if Negroes continue to be frustrated in their constitutional demands.

This was made plain Thursday by a source in close touch with Kennedy administration planning. He said the administration hopes for a vast grassroots movement of racial reconciliation to head off a possible wave of race riots North and South this summer.

This also explains why the administration now is going to push a number of civil rights bills at Congress next week and make a fight which it could have made before what happened in Birmingham shook white people awake.

There Negroes demonstrated peacefully even though more than 2,000 of them were arrested. But then, when Negro dwellings were bombed, a riot began, giving a foretaste of what could happen in many places.

White communities have sacrificed a lot of Negro good will by their delay in giving Negroes the equal treatment they're entitled to by law. Negroes know that what they get they have to fight for every step of the way.

It wasn't until nearly the middle of the 20th Century—when the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People took a series of test cases to the Supreme Court—that one form of segregation after another was declared illegal.

Nevertheless the Supreme Court carefully avoided saying the principle of segregation itself was unconstitutional. That would have meant saying that the 1896 decision that segregation was constitutional was wrong. The court finally said so in 1954.

By working together—but not in a solid way and under various leaderships—Negroes over the years since 1954 began, with help of the courts and the federal government, to break down segregation bit by painful bit.

In places like Alabama and Mississippi it is still intense if no longer total.

At their confidence increased Negroes began to depend on individual test cases in the courts and took to direct action, like freedom rides and all that followed. But the segregation wall is still enormous.

So far the Negroes have been led by moderates. If the non-violent action they advocate fails, the moderate view will be discredited as Negro impatience increases.

Awards Presented
CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Awards were presented to two small Methodist churches Wednesday night by the North Arkansas Conference of the Methodist Church.

The Lonsford Methodist Church was named rural church of the year and the Higginson Methodist Church was given a plaque as small town church of the year.

The awards came at the Town and County Commission banquet. Each church got $100.

Racial Issue Turns Up in House Vote

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—A whisper of a racial issue turned up in the House this week, and the marked cooperation of Southern Democrats with President Kennedy's administration was dramatically reversed.

The change of the tide came on an amendment to a bill extending the President's reorganization powers.

Backed by Republicans and carried 227 to 174 in the House, this provision would deny the President the right to create new executive departments under the reorganization procedure.

Democrats from the old Confederate states voted 63 to 18, for the amendment, recreating at least for the occasion the coalition with Republicans that had gone into the discard in five previous test votes this year.

"I didn't think anything about it at all," said one Southern Democrat who has consistently supported administration measures.

"Then somebody reminded me that this tied in with the fight on creating a Department of Urban Affairs. So, of course, I had to vote for the amendment."

One of Kennedy's major defeats last year was Congress' refusal to authorize creation of this department. He had let it be known that he intended to appoint Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, to the Cabinet-level secretaryship that would have been set up.

Voting against the proposal in February 1962 were 111 Democrats, most of them from the South, and 153 Republicans.

Republicans who oppose the Urban Affairs Department have cited economy and dislike of federal intervention in local affairs as their reasons. The proposal accordingly illustrates the toughest possible task for administration lieutenants. Racial considerations.

Several Southern Democrats to oppose the administration, while Republicans can base their opposition on other grounds.

Last Tuesday's vote dramatizes the dilemma of Southern members who basically support Kennedy but feel their constituents will not tolerate any vote that looks like yielding to the new militancy for Negro objectives being demonstrated in Birmingham, Jackson, and elsewhere.

Navy Will Inspect Hull of Sub Again

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The Navy disclosed today that builder trials for the nuclear attack submarine Tinsosa have been suspended indefinitely and announced the Tinsosa will be dry-docked for more radiographic examination of her hull.

Additional hull X-ray work is necessary, the Navy said, because a block of radiographs made of the Tinsosa hull "has been misplaced."

The Tinsosa, sister ship of the lost Thresher, can't be certified as ready for sea without such X-ray reports in her document file.

The Navy said there is no direct relations between this additional work on the Tinsosa and the Thresher disaster. The Thresher went down April 10 with 129 aboard.

Tinsosa builder trials originally were scheduled for May 5. They were postponed to May 12, then to May 19 and then to early July.

The Navy also disclosed the Tinsosa collided Thursday with the Polarix submarine John Adams while being berthed.

White Going to New Post in Australia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lincoln White, one of the most quoted men in the United States as spokesmen for the State Department, is going to a new foreign assignment.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced today that White, 37, has been appointed to serve as consul general in Melbourne, Australia.

White has been in State Department public information work since 1939. He became assistant director of the office of news in 1953 and became the chief spokesman as acting director in 1955. He has been in charge of the office since 1957.

During the last eight years, therefore, White has made the day in and day out pronouncements on foreign affairs and foreign policy issues which were not handled personally by the President or by the secretary of state.

White's successor was not announced but it was understood that the assignment would go to Richard I. Phillips, 52, a career foreign service officer who is presently serving as a special assistant to the State Department's public affairs chief, Asst. Secretary Robert J. Manning.

Alderman Trying to Get Lots Back

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three North Little Rock aldermen are trying to recover four lots the city sold last December, thinking they would be used for an Arkansas Municipal League office building.

Glenn G. Zimmerman of North Little Rock, executive director of the league, said he bought the lots in the city's civic center complex for himself and not for the league.

Aldermen Robert Kirspeil, Burt Henry Sr. and Robert Draper filed a resolution Thursday to repeal a resolution transferring title to Zimmerman.

Zimmerman has given a 90-day option on the property to Allen Bros. and O'Hara of Memphis, who want to build an apartment building on the site. Zimmerman paid the city $30,000 for the site and is asking $50,000.

Zimmerman said today that for practical purposes the original resolution is dead because the actions provided for in it have been carried out and he now has the deed on the property.

The council voted to sell the property to the league. Zimmerman wrote the council that he wanted his name on the deed to the property and the council approved the change. Zimmerman said today that the original offer to buy the property came from him, but the council authorized the deed to be made to the league.

The property was sold for $500 more than Mayor W. F. Laman said at the time that it had been appraised for. Zimmerman is legal adviser to the city.

Search for Reds Who Burned Depot

Three youths found loitering around the charred mission were held for questioning. One had fresh paint on his hands—possibly from smearing the mission walls with the initials FALN, a movement trying to oust President Romulo Betancourt.

Defense Minister Antonio Briceño Linares apologized to U.S. Ambassador C. Allan Stewart for Wednesday's attack. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the loss was small. The one-story building was leased from the Venezuelan armed forces.

NEW YORK (AP)—Boston's chief homicide investigator today labeled Charles Terry—held in a woman's slaying here—as a suspect in a series of strangulations of women in Boston.

Alabama U. Isolated by Barricades

By REX THOMAS

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Bright yellow barricades isolated the University of Alabama campus today as segregationist leaders urged their followers to combat integration with dollars instead of violence.

Eugene (Bull) Connor, the militant former Birmingham police commissioner, called for a massive boycott of white merchants who advocate racial equality or erase the color line in their stores.

Hundreds of law-enforcement officers, under orders to prevent trouble when two Negroes arrive to enroll at the university Tuesday, put the campus off limits to all but students, faculty members, and authorized visitors, including scores of newsmen.

At the State Capitol in Montgomery, Gov. George C. Wallace, who has sworn to bar the Negroes from the university but has asked others to keep away, worked on another in a series of stay-at-home appeals. He will make a statewide radio-television broadcast Sunday night.

Wallace has promised to appear at the university to challenge a court order to admit the two Negroes and to do the same at the university extension center at Huntsville two days later when a third Negro is scheduled to enroll. A federal court has ordered him not to interfere with the integration.

Connor, recently voted out of office by Birmingham residents wanting a change of government, spoke at a Citizens Council rally Friday night in a high school auditorium at suburban Holt, Ala.

The white South's only remaining hope, said the Democratic national committeeman, "is economic. Boycott 'em."

He referred to merchants and other businessmen, who he charged, have "traded out with the Negroes."

Another speaker, C. E. Horns by Jr. of Centerville, Ala., added his voice to the swelling no-mob-violence chorus but said white Southerners should fight back with other retaliatory measures.

Presiding over the council rally was Executive Secretary Leonard Wilson, a former University of Alabama student who was expelled in the wake of mob violence which greeted the arrival of a Negro student six years ago.

A Ku Klux Klan "cross burning and public speaking" is scheduled on the outskirts of Tuscaloosa tonight. Its imperial wizard, Robert M. Shelton, also has joined in the no-violence pledge.

While Gov. Wallace, 43, made plans to test the no-interference injunction aimed at him by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Seybourn H. Lynne, a spokesman for the Kennedy administration in Washington indicated federal troops would be used if it became necessary to gain admission at Tuscaloosa for the two Negroes, Vivian F. Malone, 20, of Mobile, and James A. Hood, 20, of East Gadsden.

Electronic Image-maker Aids Arrest

NEW YORK (AP) — An electronic image-maker is credited with aiding police in the arrest of a towering, powerful ex-convict charged in the strangling of a divorcee in her midtown Manhattan hotel room.

The victim, Zenovia Clegg, 62, was found nude, a scarf around her neck, in the Woodstock Hotel on West 43rd Street, Sunday. She had been slain the previous Thursday, police said.

Booked on a charge of homicide Thursday was Charles Terry, 33, a furniture mover, who stands 6 feet 5 and weighs more than 200 pounds.

Terry was released from a Maine prison in 1961 after serving a term for rape and assault and battery. Because of his New England background, Boston detectives came here to question Terry about a series of stranglings there of middle aged and elderly women.

Terry refused to talk to the Boston authorities.

In tracking down Terry, police rounded up nine witnesses who had seen Mrs. Clegg in the company of a man shortly before her slaying. Their descriptions of the man were fed into the electronic image-maker, put into use only two weeks ago. The machine sorted through the descriptive material and produced an image of the suspect. This was flashed on a screen and photographed.

Matchbooks found in Mrs. Clegg's room bore the name of a Greenwich Village restaurant. Armed with the electronic photograph, police followed a trail which led to Terry in a Greenwich Village tavern.

Profumo Gets Out of Seeing the Queen

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—John Profumo, British war minister who resigned after admitting an affair with a red-haired party girl, today begged off from a traditional final audience with Queen Elizabeth II.

The queen agreed and thus was removed from involvement in the political storm swirling around Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government. Palace decision to receive Profumo had drawn strong criticism in Parliament.

Retiring ministers traditionally report to the queen at Buckingham Palace and hand over their seals of office. Profumo's lawyers announced he had begged leave to be excused and has been told that this request has been granted.

Profumo, 48, quit his post Wednesday. He admitted he had lied to the House of Commons in attempt to cover up an improper relationship with Christine Keeler, 22, who carried on an affair simultaneously with a Soviet naval attaché stationed in London.

In a copyright interview in the Daily Express, Miss Keeler said she saw Profumo once or twice a week for several months in 1961, when she was 19 and he was 46.

Miss Keeler, termed a call girl in parliamentary debate, watched in Old Bailey Court as a jury convicted Aloysius Gordon, a Negro jazz singer from Jamaica, of beating her April 17.

Gordon, who testified that Miss Keeler had been a call girl since the age of 17 and had been his mistress, was sentenced to three years in prison.

Miss Keeler's interview told of her frequent meetings with Profumo.

Wants New Pope to Desire Same

BONN, Germany (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said today it would be a tragedy if the next Roman Catholic pontiff does not show Pope John XXIII's desire to "I admired Pope John's tremendous reconciliation of Christians."

Graham told a news conference at the start of a preaching mission in West Germany, "I felt he brought a new era to the world."

"It is my hope that the cardinals elect a new Pope who will follow the same line as John. It would be a great tragedy if they chose a man who reacted against John, who re-elected the walls."

The Protestant evangelist held his news conference shortly after meeting for 40 minutes with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a Roman Catholic.

"We talked entirely about theology and spiritual matters," he reported. "We found ourselves in quite a lot of agreement."

Grant to Crossett

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—A grant of $45,900 has been approved by the Federal Aviation Agency for the Crossett Municipal Airport. Archie W. League, southwest region administrator for the FAA, said Crossett is to match the funds, bringing the total cost of improvements at the airport to $91,796.

Following the wedding, a reception will be held in the bride's home.

No Cards will be sent.

PAINTING THE LILY
By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I have been reading your column for a long time and find myself agreeing more often than not, especially in your stand about teenage girls making up. Maybe this trend toward early maturity is the cause of their boy troubles.

I am in my early twenties and plan to marry this summer. My fiancée and I went steady three years before becoming engaged. Maybe you'd like to pass along the motto we live by: "Happiness is attained only through understanding, acceptance and consideration."

Not that we don't argue—we do but we always settle our disagreements before parting. I never wore any make-up except the palest lipstick until I was 17, yet I didn't lack for dates. —Miss W. S.

Dear Miss W. S.: I heartily endorse your motto for happiness. Who could possibly take issue with it? Your philosophy is very mature, as befits a girl in her early twenties, and is well designed to give happiness as well as reap it.

The three qualities you mention—understanding, acceptance and consideration—all have a common, underlying basis of selflessness. Ever notice how the miserable people are almost always the ones wrapped up in themselves and their often petty problems?

The opposite, as you have discovered, is equally true. I feel confident that if you and your fiancée continue to live by your motto, your marriage will be a great success.

We also seem to be in agreement on the subject of make-up, although I don't believe there is any deep relation between cosmetics and happiness. I happen to dislike heavy make-up at any age, simply because I don't like exaggerated artificiality. But one of the kindest, most glowing personalities I know belongs to a woman whose hair is dyed, and who wears goggles of rouge, lipstick, and eye shadow. So I don't think the use, abuse, or lack of cosmetics has much to do with one's disposition.

Dear Helen: I read your column regularly but find myself often disagreeing with your old-fashioned ideas and attitude of treating young people as though they had no common sense.

I disagree with the statement of ours in reply to a teen, "You assume yours is the only point of view, thereby revealing your youthfulness."

I have observed this type of narrow-mindedness more often in older adults rather than in young people who are more often willing to consider different points of view. Seeing only one point of view is narrow-mindedness and not youthfulness. —A. L.

Dear A. L.: Hurrah for you! I am delighted to be taken to task by a teen (which I assume you are; with two feet firmly planted on the ground. Remember the saying to the effect that all generalizations, including this one, are dangerous?)

If any statement regarding youth's refusal to consider other points of view was wrong, your statement that more adults than young people are narrow-minded is equally mistaken. By this I mean that both you and I are guilty of a bit of narrow-mindedness. Let's call a truce by agreeing that neither common sense nor broad-mindedness is the exclusive property of any one age group. But we can try to make them more universal.

Dear Helen: A few weeks ago you wrote in defense of strip-teasers, stating that they are hard-working normal people. I most certainly beg leave to differ. It was my misfortune when on tour to see several strip-teasers in action. They could not possibly perform as sensually as they did and be normal. How you and your former husband, the late John Erskine, could see anything normal about them, is more than I can understand. They are grossly immoral to me. —Mrs. H. T. Cady, Huntington, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Cady: It was our experience that the average strip-teaser, despite provocative twists and bumps on stage, leads an innocuous even prudish existence in real life. A fitting example was the wife of the late Brander Matthews, famous professor of Drama at Columbia University: Only a handful knew that his demure, retiring and highly respectable woman had once been a member of the much talked of "Black Crook" chorus.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

U.S. Hopes to Cut Costs, Up Trade
By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are looking for a big step forward in cutting costs while increasing their international trade.

A move toward standardization is a bright spot in the recent sea of troubles in which U.S. tariff-cutting policies have been challenged by the European Common Market. Among the worries set off by this has been an intensification of the always present threat of a trade war.

The American Standards Association says a global standard for American containers is due to be adopted this year by the International Organization for Standardization.

That should help both this nation's domestic transportation and world shipping industries in their struggle to wriggle free of a severe cost-profit squeeze.

Delegates from the American group have met with experts from the Common Market, and other European nations and with Far Eastern shipping interests. They say they have convinced them to accept as standard the American containers.

This would permit integrated transportation of goods by standardized containers from Roanoke to Rome, from Akron to Ankara. Americans expect this to open new export markets for their goods, not only in the Common Market, tariffs permitting, and the rest of Europe, but also in the Far East and Latin America.

The standard containers were approved early this year for American industry. They are van containers, eight 10, 20, 30 or 40 feet long, 8 feet high and 8 feet wide. In effect the containers are trailers without wheels.

They are fully interchangeable among railroads, trucks and ocean-going vessels.

Domestically, this standardization is counted upon to make a dent in the nation's annual $100-billion cost of transporting, warehousing and distributing consumer and industrial products around the states.

The association estimates that the American transportation industry will spend $12 million for the demountable containers this year, compared with $8 million last year.

If the new standards catch on internationally, the changeover to these containers should push total expenditures much higher next year.

American industry has a long-range hope that annual trade outside the Communist bloc will be by $100 billion here within 10 years. Transportation and shipping experts contend that standard size containers could haul much of this 87 per cent increase in global commerce back to American pocketbooks.

Assures Navy Can Hide Ship If Necessary

EDITOR'S NOTE — Russian bomber flights over U.S. aircraft carriers, seemingly at will, have raised some questions as to the value of the fleet as a weapon. Actually, those flights are a form of electronic warfare in which the United States is being invited to give away secrets. Here is a report by a veteran Associated Press military affairs writer.

By BEN PRICE

A Military Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's top airman said today Russian planes — and any first rate Sea Scout — could pretty well locate any U.S. aircraft carrier in peacetime and the Navy couldn't care less.

But there was one point in the interview Vice Adm. William A. Schoech, deputy chief of naval operations for air, wanted to make quite clear:

Schoech said he was fed up with people who have concluded that because Russian bombers have flown over U.S. carriers six times in the last year, the carrier is now worthless as a weapon.

In the latest incident six twin-jet medium range Russian bombers flew over the carrier Ranger 330 miles east of Japan last Tuesday.

The admiral pointed out that the Ranger was traveling nonstop from Japan to the United States via the northern Great Circle route that thousands of people in Japan and the United States knew when she was leaving and when she was arriving and that she was making no effort to maintain radio silence.

"Any good Sea Scout with a plotting board and a radio sitting at home could have located her," the admiral said.

"But," he added, "when we keep our electronic mouths shut, they can't find us."

This business of Russians flying over carriers is all very friendly on the surface, with both sides waggling wings and waving.

Briefly, it is a form of electronic warfare in which each side tries to determine the efficiency and range of the other's detection devices, the characteristics of the electronic counter-measures and even the counter-counter-measures.

What goes on in this field of electronic warfare is so sensitive to the nation's security that some of the very top people in government have asked that they be kept in ignorance of advances lest they let something slip inadvertently.

On flyovers of the sort practiced by the Soviet planes, a good bit of the electronic gear aboard a carrier is shut down. No point in giving away secrets for free.

From time to time, just for example, Soviet and U.S. fighters have been known to intrude into hostile territory briefly or to make bee line flights which might be interpreted on radar as an intent to intrude.

The purpose of these flights is to estimate the range of the enemy's detection equipment and the reaction time of the defensive forces, both ground and air.

"I think it is unfortunate that there are those who keep pecking at things like this through ignorance," Schoech said of those who feel the Soviet flights spell the end of the carrier as an effective weapon.

He denied that carriers were dangerously vulnerable.

"We are talking about degrees of vulnerability," he said, "Certainly a big air base on land which cannot be moved and which can be pinpointed is vulnerable. If you could pin a carrier down to an operating area of, say, a hundred miles, it would be just about as vulnerable as a big air base."

"But you don't — and you can not now program a ballistic missile to hit a carrier."

Allies Planning Defense Line

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander in Europe, said today the Allies are planning a line of physical defense near the Iron Curtain in the event of an attack.

The plan, being worked out by his command, "when implemented will provide direct physical resistance to any enemy attack immediately in the vicinity of the Iron Curtain," Lemnitzer told a meeting of the Western European Union assembly.

The Western European Union assembly is an advisory body with members from Britain, France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

UN Observer Team to Yemen

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant announced today that he has decided to dispatch immediately a U.N. observer team to Yemen to supervise the disengagement of foreign observer troops from the peninsula.

In a report to the Security Council, Thant said the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia had agreed to pay the costs of the U.N. operation. The question of financing the move had been holding up action agreed on last month.

Thant said the U.A.R. had agreed to provide the equivalent of $200,000, or roughly half of the estimated cost for two months. Saudi Arabia had agreed orally to pay a proportionate share, he added.

Workers Strike at Clarksville

Jesse Riley of Fort Smith, a Butchers Union of America representative, said the 120 workers, mostly women, were protesting the lack of places to sit while they were not performing their duties, but were still on the job.

Monks Okay Mission

SUBIACO, Ark. (AP)—Monks of Subiaco Abbey voted Thursday to found a mission in the area of Fort Harcourt, Nigeria. The settlement would be the first Benedictine mission in the area.

Eudora Votes Bonds
EUDORA, Ark. (AP)—A $200,000 bond issue to provide funds for expansion of the Eudora Garment Corporation factory was approved Tuesday by residents of Eudora. Fourteen votes were cast for the issue to nine against. The expansion, to double the size of the plant, will allow employment of an additional 150 workers, officials said.

"HELLO PASTOR

— this is Dave. I just want to tell you we have decided to start going to Sunday School and preaching services again... we'll see you Sunday. "We realize it is foolish and not in the best interest of all concerned when we stay away. So, you will please put us on the roll call again... the whole family... we'll be there, and regular from now on. And say, pastor, we are bringing along some friends who have expressed an interest. They, too, have been procrastinating but want to get back in the line of duty... yes, they will be regular. "And wait a minute, pastor, any of us will teach a class if we are needed. Will see you Sunday. Bye, 'til then."
